COLLIERY OPERATIONS.

The Present Week an Excellent One and Prospects Bright.

To-night closes the best week of operations at the collieries, as a whole, in the lower anthracite region in over two years. The P. & E. C. & I. collieries have worked five three-quarter days, excepting a stoppage to-night until Monday. The Packer collieries, operated by the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, suspend to-night with a record of five full days. The collieries in the Shamokin and Lykens Valley district, will suspend to-morrow night with a record of six days of nine hours each, and the collieries of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company in the Panther Creek Valley will close the week to-morrow night with six full days. It was semi-officially stated this afternoon that all the collieries referred to will work at least as much next week as they have during this one, and there is a possibility of the P. & E. C. & I. collieries making six three-quarter days.

Joe Keogh's Setter.

Some time ago Conductor Joe Keogh, of the Schuylkill Traction Company, was presented with a beautiful setter dog by a friend in Philadelphia. He valued the dog highly and its bill-of-fare consisted of many delicacies until the dog took ill from the rich food. To cure the dog Joe was advised by a fancier to feed it on bran, which was given the animal until it became bloated like a barrel. This remedy resulted in a more serious illness and it was necessary to cut the canine's career by shooting it. Joe now swears vengeance on the adviser.

PARADE ARRANGEMENTS.

Favorable Reports at the Joint Committee Meeting Last Night.

Although the enthusiasm attending the movement for a grand parade and demonstration in town on July 4th is not spouting like oil from a newly tapped well, still the project is going along with very satisfactory results and there is no doubt that the day will be appropriately celebrated. The joint committee has issued a circular urging the co-operation of every secret and civic society in the town and setting forth many excellent reasons why they should do so.

The joint committee held a meeting in the Columbia Hose Company's parlor last night and it was well attended. The committee on music reported that the Grant and Lithuanian bands want two dollars for each man, and the drum corps wants $1.50 for each.

Chairman Hester stated that the J. T. of H. & T. had withdrawn its representative and William Maley, representative of Watkin Waters' Post No. 146, G. A. R., was appointed to fill the vacancy created in the committee on music by the withdrawal.

Antislavery Castle No. 74, Knights of the Golden Eagle, announced through its representative, William Collins, that it intends to have a float in the parade and will also make a cash contribution toward defraying the general expenses. Several other representatives stated that their organizations would contribute toward the same fund.

Messrs. Robert Shumas, Stephen Trzcembo, Jr., Peter Schoff, David Holvey, George I. Hafner and William Taylor were appointed a committee to solicit financial contributions and the committee adjourned to meet again at the same place and time next Thursday evening, when the formation and route of parade will be decided upon.

SAVED FROM LIVING TOMB.

Had Been Over Food or Drink For Over Four Days.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 23.—Ignatz Casmero, the Polish laborer who was entombed in the Gaylord mine of the Kingston Coal company last Monday morning, was rescued at noon yesterday, apparently none the worse for his remarkable adventure. He was at work in his breast when there was a rush of coal down a steep incline. It was thought at first that Casmero had been crushed to death by the fall, but the mine officials concluded not to take any chances, and a rescuer was put to work to dig him out. No tidings were heard from him until Tuesday night, when the rescuers thought they heard a noise coming from the direction of the breast where Casmero was imprisoned. Wednesday night as the rescuers drew nearer the noise was more distinct, and yesterday morning the men at work could hear the voice of the entombed man. When the rescuers finally reached him he was overcome with joy, and kissed the hands of his deliverers. The man was given food and drink in small quantities and today the doctor says he is all right. In an interview Casmero said he had warning of the impending disaster and sought a place of safety in the "heading." He then thought he would be suffocated or would starve to death. There was a fair current of air traveling over the top of the fall. On Tuesday he became exhausted, and lay down and slept a while. Then he heard the rescuers at work, and knew he would be taken out alive.

RICH FOR A FEW HOURS!

Thief Stole Ten Thousand Dollars From a Boston Bank.

QUICKLY CAPTURED IN NEW YORK.

When Nabbed the Prisoner Offered the Stolen Money to His Captor as a Bribe—He is Recognized as an Old Offender.

Boston, June 23.—A sneak thief entered the Metropolitan National bank here yesterday and stole $10,000 while the paying teller's attention was drawn away for a moment. The man entered the bank about 11 o'clock and at the teller's window asked for some directions about sending a money order. The teller gave the information desired and the stranger stood at the counter, apparently making notes. Just then the teller was called to another part of the office and the visitor quickly thrust his arm through the grating of the window and grabbed $10,000 in notes. A young lady stenographer in the bank saw the man's action, but he escaped.

New York, June 23.—The first knowledge Captain McClusky had of the robbery in Boston was a telegram received yesterday noon. Shortly after that Chief Inspector Watts, of Boston, called him up on the telephone and told him the story of the crime. A description was given of the man, and Captain McClusky immediately notified policemen along the river fronts, at the steamboat landings and the railway stations to look out for the robber.

A detective who was detailed to watch the Grand Central station last evening boarded the incoming 6 o'clock Boston train at One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street and walked from the first car through to the rear car, the smoker. The suspect was sitting in the rear of the car enjoying a cigar. The detective made no move to arrest the robber until after the Grand Central station was reached. He followed the man out to the sidewalk, and there informed him that he was under arrest. A short struggle ensued, and the thief was overpowered. He put his hand in his pocket and drew from it a roll of bills, containing $10,000, which he offered to part with for his freedom.

At police headquarters the prisoner said he was George Shea, 21 years of age, born in Canada, married, but refused to give his residence. He was recognized as an old offender. He was arrested in this city in September, 1896, for stealing $12 from Zimmerman & Forsyth, Wall street bankers. He was again arrested in July, 1898, for attempting to steal jewelry in Malden Lane. He was not tried for the first offense, and on the second charge he was not convicted. He has also been arrested in Chicago.

The roll of bills stolen from the Boston bank was untouched. It consisted of two $1,000 bills, two $500 bills and the remainder in $100 bills.

Although he gave his name as Shea, the robber was recognized as Philip Lambello, by a letter in his pocket, which he had written to his mother in Chicago.

No one would ever be bothered with constipation if everyone knew how naturally and quickly Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the stomach and bowels.
